Mrs. Strubing, of No. 401 East Fifth-st., New-York, called at the police station yesterday, and identified the hat and letter found on the deck of a Delaware. Lackawanna and Western ferryboat on Thursday night as the property of Otto Kuchnell, who had boarded as the property of Otto Kuchnell, who had bounded with her. She said that he had lately been ill and had become despondent. This seems to indicate that a suicide was committed on Thursday night from the deck of the ferryboat, and that the suicide was Otto Kuchnell. He was thirty-six years old, and an employe of McHugh & Co., of New-York.

Before Judge Depue yesterday Carl Leutz, counsel for Herman Lehlbach, Republican candidate for Mayor in the charter election, applied for an order for subpoenas for 400 witnesses. The recount suit had been set down for Tuesday, and to make ready for that hearing the counsel asked that subpoenss be issued. Judge Depue declined to grant the order, remarking that it would take two years to try the matter under such conditions. He would wait before granting such an order until the pending decision of the supreme Court in the matters argued before the court should be received. This decision would probably be forthcoming on Monday.

It was announced yesterday that application would be made to the Legislature this winter for the annexation of Harrison and Kearny townships of Hudson County to Essex County, and for the Essex County line to be extended to the Hackensack River. The idea is to make Harrison and Kearny a part of the city of Newark.

Two children of Thomas Moran, a hatter living in Pranklin Row, Bloomfield, were seriously injured yesterday. One of the children, four years old, was holding the other, an infant, in her arms and standing near a door of an inner apartment, when the front door was opened and a gust of wind blew down the liner door, which fell upon the children. Rose, the oldest, was badly cut on the head and rendered unconscious. The baby was cut and braised by the fall.

A thrilling incident occurred on Friday night during the storm at Elizabethport. A horse car on the Elizabeth street rallway packed with passengers had just reached the crossing of the Long Branch Rallrond at East Jersey-st. when a passenger train at full speed was seen rushing down upon it, while at the same driver of the car, realizing the perfl, whipped up his horses, which leaped forward with the car not a moment too soon, and the train shot past the crossing, passing within three fisches of the rear of the car. ### OTHER SUBURBAN TOWNS.

RIVERHEAD.-The residents of Riverhead were our prised yesterday morning to see a peculiar flag floating from the flag pole in the Union School grounds. The flag was about nine feet by six feet, and had a skull and cross bones painted white. The flag was the work of some practical lokers, and the Board of Education has offered a reward for information that will lead to their arrest.

MISS E. S. WEST MAKES A STATEMENT.

HER VERSION OF THE RECENT TROUBLE IN RUTGERS FEMALE COLLEGE.

E. S. West, the former principal of Rutgers Fe male College, in West Fifty-fifth-st., who was dismissed by the Board of Trustees in the latter part of October, for appropriating funds of the college to her own use, has sent a statement of the trouble to The Tribune. She says in substance: "When, at the suggestion of one of the trustees, I applied six years ago for the place of principal, there were forty other applicants. My credentials were presented to the Executive Committee, who, after inquiry, engaged me, and the contract was signed in the secretary's office. The salary was $200 annually and a room. Two years afterward it was increased to $400, nominally, and remained so. I found that the 'room' did not include board and that the duties of principal covered not only edmentional work and correspondence, but also the cares of housekeeper and caterer. As the income from the boarding department was expected to meet its expenses the principal was required to furnish bedroom and dining-room furniture and kitchen utensils and to pay all the servants' wages except one.

"The question of unpaid salaries is a chronic one at Rutgers. There are excellent trachers in this city now to whom large amounts are due. When the Rev. Dr. Lamson, the president of the college, was acting treasurer, he requested my assistance in the care of accounts. That there were mistakes I know, and when, during the vacation, I met a committee from the board, pecuniary matters were discussed very freely. I explained everything as far as possible, including the finances of the primary department, for which, though sanctioned by the executive head, I was censured greatly, and I taid the gentlemen I regretted that errors had been committed, and that they should not My accounts, vouchers and claims for unpaid salary have been placed in the hands of the committee for examination

"Several of the teachers boarded in the college, and as their salaries were unpaid they did not settle their board-bills, and under such circumstances it was im-board-bills, and under such circumstances it was impossible to meet the bills of tradesmen.

"The key of the letter-box was in my possession, and I never took any letters except such as I had a right to open as the principal. I did not leave the college simply because I could not. The small amount which I had laid aside before going to the college to provide for a sudden emergency was soon exhausted, and so I had to stay. I did not remain to prove my innocence, because the Board of Trustees gave me no opportunity to vindicate myself, but appointed a committee to ask my resignation. I was told that if I did not resign my position would be declared variation of the state of committee to ask my resignation. I was told that if I did not resign my position would be declared vant. a case of 'might makes right.'

"It was stated that the shortage which was alleged to have been caused by me amounted to more than $3,000. That I emphatically deny."

GETTING THE DEATH CHAIR READY.

LOPPY, THE MURDERER, TO BE EXECUTED THIS

Preparations have been completed for the execution of Loppy, the wife murderer, at Sing Sing prison this week. Many believe that he will be put to death in the electric chair on Tuesday morning. Warden Brown has sent out the invitations to those who will witness the killing of the murderer. There is now no hope for Loppy, Governor Hill having refused to grant a respite, and the condemned man is preparing to meet his fate. Loppy is about forty-five years old. He is friendless, and after he is killed his body will the prison grounds. prison gates will be closed this afternoon at & o'clock, until after the execution takes place. At that hour the "dead line" will be established, and armed men will be placed around the prison on the outside. As at the last executions, a signal will be hoisted on the fing staff of the Warden's house imme-diately after Loppy has paid the death penalty. Warden Brown has consented to allow several newsaper men to erect shantles directly opposite the Warden's office on the top of which is the flagpole from which the death signal is to be displayed. Specia wires will run into these shantles.

The Warden has received many applications from pr persons desiring to see Loppy killed. Among who made this request in writing are Dr. Jacob Gold-berg an Assemblyman-elect in Buffalo, who is preparing a bill to be presented to the next Legislatur to amend the law so as to admit newspaper men and permit the details of an execution to be made public Dr. Goldberg's application was refused by the Warden

UNION PACIFIC SEEKS ITS SECURITIES.

A SUIT AGAINST FIELD, LINDLEY, WIECHERS

CO. AND OTHERS. The Union Pacific Railroad Company took active steps in the courts yesterday to recover some of the securities placed by it in the hands of Field. Lindley. Wiechers & Co. and rehypothecated by that firm The action took the shape of a suit in the Supreme Cour in which the Union Pacific Railroad Company appears as plaintiff and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., H. L. Horton & Co. Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co., and Charles W. Gould, as assignee, appear as defendants.

It is set forth in the complaint that in May last, the Union Pacific borrowed $600,000 from Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co., for which it gave three notes in amounts of $100,000, $250,000 and $250,000. The notes fell due, respectively, on November 13, 24 and 25. In July the Union Pacific borrowed another $100. 000, giving a note due in January next. As security for these loans the company deposited with Field. Lindley, Wiechers & Co. a large amount of collaboral, consisting of treasury stocks and bonds.

At the maturity of the various notes payment was offered by the Union Pacific Company and refused by the Field Company. A demand for the return of the securities was also refused. On November 28, the day after the failure of Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co., another demand for the return of the securities was made, this time on the assignee, Charles W. Gould. Another refusal being met, the Union Pacific people began an investigation to trace the securities and fine out who held them. The present suit is one of the results of that investigation.

Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co., it is charge gotiated two sterling loans with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., amounting to £50,000 each. These loans will expire in January, but it was stipulated that by the payment of sion the time could be extended until March. Included in the securities given to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. as collateral were bonds and stocks belonging to the as collateral were bonds and stocks belonging to the Union Pacific Company of a par value of $405,000; also 100 shares of Pullman stock, 700 shares of C. C. C. & St. L. (Big Four common), 200 shares of Missouri Pacific, 200 shares of Canada Southern and 200 shares of Atchison, and $211,000 Oregon Short Line consolidated 5 per cent bonds, $200,000 Oregon Short Line collateral trust 5s and $5,000 Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf 5s, belonging to H. L. Horton & Co., and 200 shares of Manitoba stock, 100 shares of Western Union, 100 shares of New-York Central, supposed to belong to Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co.

OBITUARY.

JAMES K. FISHER. James K. Fisher died on December 1 at his home in Kilren, County Derry, Ireland, near which place he was born about sixty-sic years ago. He came to America soon after his majority, and after various vicissitudes established in Chicago the firm of J. K. Fisher & Co., from which he retired in 1881 with a handsome fortune. In October, 1882, he married a daughter of Robert Forsythe, of Chicago, who, like Mr. Fisher, was a native of the North of Ireland. The newly wedded pair set out at once for a trip round the world, which occupied nearly three years. The only issue of the marriage, a daughter, was born near the Himalaya Mountains. Returning to Europe, Mr. Fisher bought a country-seat near Torquay, in the south of England, but finding the climate too enervating he disposed of it and established himself at Kilrea, where he had fine shooting and salmon-fishing during the season for those sports. His winters were usually passed in the south of France. Mr. Fisher was a very popular man, and was a member of all the clubs in Chicago and of the Union, Manhattan and Lotos in this city.

HOW EXTREMELY LIKE MR. SAGE:

It is really remarkable how many people have dis-covered that they are in danger of just such disasters as that which pearly befell Russell Sage. Miss Louise Beaudet, of the Casino company, is one who thinks her own position is in some scarcely explicable way like his. To be sure, Mr. Sage is not a comic opera singer and dancer, and Miss Beaudet has no influence in Wall Street. To be sure, Mr. Sage is not a chance of Wall Street.

To be sure, the man who destroyed himself in Mr. Sage's office did not pretend to be a lover of Mr. Sage, and the pretended lover of Miss Beaudet has never actually threatened the use of dynamite. But there is a man who has annoyed Miss Beaudet two or three times, so she says, and the man who came into Mr. Sage's office must have annoyed him, so the similarity of the cases is apparent, and card, and this will doubtless protect her till she appears on the stage of the Casino to-morrow night, and then anybody who likes can take 5 fair shot at her from the Announcements.
